SALT & LIGHT TESTIMONIES

Thank you to all who participated in Salt and Light last weekend. Over 85 people participated. Groups cleaned an apartment, sorted donations for hurricane victims, knotted quilts, cleared trails, painted the nursery (check out the new color!) and worked at peoples houses. We joined in Gods work locally and globally.

“What I love about Salt and Light Sunday is not only the willingness of so many congregation members to get out and do service, but the excitement that everyone has to share what they did and how God was working through them. We are so blessed with such wonderful servants at our church!” Rachel Burkhardt

Radeschi Children:

Claire... "I liked helping people by packaging diapers."

Sara... "I liked helping people by putting a mini magazine in the diapers so they could read about God and sending stuff to them."

Riley... "I liked using a knife to cut stuff, not scissors but a knife."

It was our honor to serve with this team. A fun group focused on getting things processed and packed. It appears at this point for those who were packing up disaster relief items, they will be going out this coming week to Houston and Puerto Rico. For those working on Men's winter wear, those items leave next Friday for Tioga County for distribution in that area. Ed Tornetta, Hands in Service Warehouse

The reward of participating in Salt & Light was the generous receipt of gratitude. Kermit Yoder

Plumstedville Pray Walk - We had Prayed before leaving that we would see through your (God's) eyes as we walked. During our walk it became clear to me that this should be our daily walk as a Christian. What a difference we could make. Dale Ruster

A gathering of eleven intergenerational women shared and appreciated each other for their talents and knowledge as they knotted comforters and quilted quilts. Rita Detweiler and Maura Kulp gained a new appreciation for the roles their grandmothers played in knotting and quilting. Mae Kulp

It was very evident that God's hand is at work at "Hands for Him" and he has blessed the organization beyond what they would have ever thought possible!! J We found the story of how the organization began to be very uplifting and it was enjoyable to volunteer there for the morning. Bonnie Hockman

THE FAMILY CORNER

Genesis 2:4-19: "God tends a garden in Eden"

Here are some ways to nurture faith at home based on this week's story. For preschool children, use the "For families" page in the Early Childhood leaflet. (1) Read Genesis 2:7, 19, 22. How did God make animals and people? (2) Describe something in creation and have the family guess what it is. (3) List as many fruits and vegetables as you can. Try a new food this week.

Did you know? The Tigris and Euphrates rivers mentioned in Genesis 2 flow southeast from the mountains of Turkey through Iraq.
